

Landray works with IBM Innovation Center to build leading Knowledge Management Solution

Landray (ShenZhen) Management Consulting Support System Co. Ltd. (Landray) is a hi-tech company which focuses on management consulting and related software solution development in the field of enterprise knowledge management. Landray is a member of IBM PartnerWorld® and has worked with the team at the IBM® Innovation Center for Business Partners in Shanghai to build its knowledge management software solution, Landray Knowledge-Management Solution (LKS).

LKS is a complete solution that helps an enterprise to effectively and efficiently manage its knowledge assets. Based on IBM middleware, the modular solution has been adopted by many well-known enterprises in China, making Landray a leader in the area of knowledge management in China.

The LKS-Enterprise Knowledge Portal (LKS-EKP) is built on WebSphere® Portal for Multiplatforms and Lotus® Domino. During the development of LKS-EKP, IBM Innovation Center helped Landray to set up and configure the test environment and solve some key problems, such as Single Sign-On issues. The center also worked with Landray to test the solution and carry out performance tuning to meet the requirements of the customer. The solution, running on IBM eServer pSeries®, has been adopted by one of the largest home appliance producers in China, a big win for both IBM and Landray. Now IBM technical consultants at the center are helping Landray publish its LKS-EKP portlet in the IBM WebSphere Portal and Lotus Workplace Catalog.

Mr. Yang Jianwei, the General Manage of Landray, found the support from IBM invaluable.

“As an IBM Business Partner, Landray has got support from IBM on every level, including marketing, sales and technical. The cooperation between Landray and IBM Innovation Center is a good example of this. The great support from IBM helps Landray develop quickly and steadily. We firmly believe that the cooperation between Landray and IBM will bring more value and lead to a great future.”
