Single Version Charging (SVC):

The term "monthly charges" used in this document means Monthly License Charges (MLC), Graduated MLC (GMLC), Parallel Sysplex License Charges (PSLC), Growth Opportunity License Charges (GOLC), Annual License Charges (ALC), zSeries Entry License Charges (zELC), Entry System License Charges (EWLC), Tiered Workload License Charges (TWLC), Variable Workload License Charges (VWLC), Fixed Workload License Charges (FWLC), New Application License Charges (NALC), System z New Application License Charges (zNALC), Midrange Workload License Charges (MWLC), and any other monthly recurring charge. However, Usage Pricing Charges (ULC) and Select Application License Charges (SALC) are not eligible for Single Version Charging.

Monthly, annual or processor group upgrade charges will be waived for a period of up to 12 months for a predecessor program only while in the process of migrating to the replacement program. When there is no replacement program specified, if a replacement program becomes available, the predecessor program will then be eligible for single version charging. The replaced program must be operating on the same machine where the replacement program is in regular operation.

Single Version Charging must be requested by customers.

Monthly charges for a replaced program will commence at the conclusion of the Single Version Charging period, or 1) if the replaced program is operating on a different machine from the replacement program, 2) if regular operation of the replacement program is terminated, or 3) upon discontinuance of the replacement program.

When Full-Machine Capacity charges apply, charges for the replacement program are based on the MSU value at Full-Machine Capacity. For software programs in a sysplex where aggregation charges apply, the MSU value for each license is calculated as above per machine before totaling to calculate the aggregated MSU value. Standard aggregation rules apply.

In addition to the above, clarifications to SVC under aggregation and changes to SVC when operating under Sub-Capacity are as follows:

1) In the case where a machine is part of a sysplex, if the customer is actively migrating from a program to a designated replacement program on the one machine, all machines upon which the program runs in the sysplex may also have the replacement program licensed. These machines will be deemed as actively migrating for SVC purposes.

2) When the replaced program and the designated replacement program are eligible for Sub-Capacity pricing, the new MSU valuation for the replacement program will now be charged at the higher of the new or prior version's MSUs, as reported in the Sub-Capacity Report. If the new version is not reported on the Sub-Capacity Report, then it will be charged at the prior version's MSUs.

NOTES:

3. This IBM program has separately charged features. Single Version Charging applicability will be on a like for like feature/functional basis only. To accomplish this, features may be added to the replacement program or deleted from the replaced program. However, if requested, billing for the replaced feature may be waived until Single Version Charging no longer applies to it.

B+hw. Same as 3 above, plus the replacement product is z/OS Base and certain hardware is required for some functions.

B. Same as 3 above, plus the replacement product is the OS/390 or z/OS Base.

4. Only certain function in DITTO is replaced by File Manager for z/OS V9. This should not imply that all of the function in other programs is replaced completely by their replacement programs.

9. This program has Use-Based Charges. Single Version Charging only applies when the number of Use-Based Features acquired for the replacement program are equal to, or exceed, the number acquired for the replaced program. To accomplish this, Features may be added to the replacement program or deleted from the replaced program.
