Watson Works™ is a set of products, available today, to help you return to the workplace. It embeds Watson AI models and applications and provides the essential insights to support critical functions and keep people safe, confident and more secure. With Watson Works you can:

- Put employee trust and safety at the center of your strategy
Enable employees to assess their ability to come to the workplace, reserve safe and compliant spaces, ensure healthy interactions, and request appropriate services to stay safe and productive.
- Empower your organization to manage through disruption with confidence
Give your organization the data to monitor and manage risk levels, adhere to new policies and guidelines, optimize space in your facilities and monitor occupancy. Track critical assets to ensure that they're available when needed.

Choose from flexible entry points to fit your unique needs:

Re-entry and facilities management

Use data to decide how and when to return to the workplace.

- Assess employee health status + overall location risk
- Create space plans and monitor occupancy to support social distancing
- Provide workplace services for employees where and when they need them
- Manage new maintenance/cleaning protocols and capital projects

Workplace safety

Monitor your facilities to help guard employee safety.

- Ensure new protocols and procedures are being followed by monitoring spaces and setting appropriate thresholds
- Monitor for appropriate use of PPE such as masks, and monitor for elevated body temperature
- Make informed safety decisions and take action based on analytical insights

Contact tracing and care management

Responsibly trace exposures and help employees access services.

- Mitigate the spread of infection through high-touch contact tracing
- Integrate external data sources to help contact tracers quickly identify exposures
- Deliver streamlined case management
- Connect employees to medical benefits and social services
