IBM Benefits

IBM offers a competitive benefits program, designed to help employees build a solid financial foundation for meeting a diverse array of needs — health care, income protection, retirement security, and personal interests.

Supplemental 2 employees are eligible for the following plans and programs which address health care and savings and are described briefly below: Medical, dental, vision, flexible spending accounts, IBM 401(k) Plus Plan and Employees Stock Purchase Plan. Supplemental 2 employees are also eligible for time off and other benefits and services as outlined below. Please contact the IBM Benefits Center-Provided by Fidelity to obtain estimated annual cost for the medical options available in your zip code.

You are Eligible

...for these benefit programs, except for the IBM Employees Stock Purchase Plan, beginning with your first day of employment.

Health care coverage (medical, dental and vision) is available for you, your spouse/partner (some health plans may not offer coverage for partners), and eligible children and other dependents (documentation supporting eligibility is required). IBM provides a range of options, to allow employees to design a personalized program that meets their personal or family circumstances. You are covered for pre-existing conditions under IBM's health plans.

Medical

Benefits Options

IBM's medical options include the IBM Preferred Provider Organization (PPO), IBM PPO Plus, IBM PPO with Health Savings Account (HSA), IBM Enhanced PPO with Health Savings Account (HSA), the IBM Exclusive Provider Organization (EPO), and health maintenance organizations (HMOs), where available. Coverage under the IBM PPO w/HSA plan is available at no cost for employee-only coverage. Employees who decline medical benefits receive a "no coverage" credit of $30 per month. IBM continues to invest in quality health programs, wellbeing and preventive care, which include providing you with a variety of resources to support your health and 100% coverage under most plans for routine check-ups and preventive services received in-network.

Comparing Medical Options

Depending on your location, as an IBM employee you may choose from among several medical options, including the IBM PPO (preferred provider organization), IBM PPO Plus, IBM PPO with HSA, IBM Enhanced PPO with HSA, IBM Exclusive Provider Organization (EPO), and a health maintenance organization (HMO), if available in your area.

The medical options comparison chart (see separate document) provides a high-level summary of the coverage and provisions available under each of the medical options IBM offers, including prescription drug coverage and behavioral health/substance abuse benefits. If you have a specific question about coverage for a particular procedure or condition, you may call the health plan directly, or contact the IBM Benefits Center at 866-937-0720, (TTY: 800-426-6537). Support specialists are available weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Eastern time on business days (excluding holidays recognized by the New York Stock Exchange except Good Friday). Please note the IBM PPO plan options cover in-network services only with a few exceptions. Out of network coverage is still provided for most behavioral health/substance use services. Behavioral Health/ Substance Use coverage will be provided by your medical carrier. Please contact your medical carrier for more details.

When you enroll in your health benefits, you'll see a personalized list of your medical options and costs, along with health plan detail sheets which provide additional information on each of the plans available to you.

Health Savings Account (HSA)

If you select the IBM PPO with HSA or IBM Enhanced PPO with HSA as your medical plan option, you will be eligible to earn up to $800 in tax-free HSA contributions for self-only coverage or $1,600 for family coverage. For the 2022 plan year, you will receive the full financial incentive for enrolling in an HSA medical plan option – there will be no program completion requirements.

In summary, you will be eligible for the following contributions directly into your HSA account:

	HSA Plan Options
	Individual Coverage	Family Coverage
 Base contribution	$250	$500
Additional Incentive Contribution	$550	$1,100
Total IBM contribution potential	$800	$1,600

* Note that part of the IBM contributions are pro-rated based on hire date and ongoing qualified life events. For individual HSA election, $250 is prorated and for family HSA election, $500 is pro-rated. The additional contributions are not pro-rated and are deposited to a qualified HSA account in mid to late January each calendar year.

HSAs offer triple tax advantages. You can make before-tax contributions to your account investments up to the annual contribution limit set by the Internal Revenue Service, earnings can grow tax-free, and funds withdrawn to pay for current and future qualified medical expenses are not subject to federal taxes.

For 2021, IBM assumes you will receive the maximum IBM contribution possible and limits your HSA contributions as detailed below.

	Medical plan coverage level
	Self-only	Family
Total 2022 contribution limit per IRS regulations	$3,650*	$7,300*
Total 2022 contribution limit per IRS regulations (including catch-up contribution of $1,000 if you're age 55 or over)	$4,650	$8,300
Maximum 2022 employee contributions through IBM payroll deductions	$2,850	$5,700
Maximum 2022 employee contributions through IBM payroll including catch-up contributions	$3,800	$6,600

The HSA funds that you do not use roll over from year to year, stay in your account and can grow over time. You own the account, so it is yours to keep even if you leave IBM. What's more, interest and investment earnings are not subject to federal taxes.

Note: If you enroll in a medical plan option with an HSA and you also are Medicare-enrolled, there are some unique tax implications.

Unique Tax Implications if You are Medicare-Enrolled and Enrolled in a Medical Plan Option with an HSA in 2022

Important: If you are enrolled in the IBM PPO with HSA or IBM Enhanced PPO with HSA, and you are also Medicare-enrolled, you may have tax penalties if you contribute, or receive an IBM contribution, to your HSA. Remember: If you are actively working at IBM and enrolled in an IBM medical option and are also enrolled in Medicare, in most situations you will receive primary coverage through IBM.

You are considered Medicare-enrolled if you are enrolled in any part of Medicare. As a reminder, Medicare has four parts:

- Part A: Hospitalization
- Part B: Physician and other services
- Part C: Medicare Advantage
- Part D: Prescription Drugs

If you will be considered Medicare-enrolled during 2022, you will want to consider stopping HSA contributions (and make sure your automatic IBM contributions to your HSA cease) at least six months in advance. Otherwise, you may have tax penalties (enrollment in Medicare Part A coverage is retroactive six months).

Even though contributions to your HSA while you are enrolled in Medicare may result in tax penalties, you can nevertheless use your HSA in the following ways:

- The balance in your HSA can be used to pay for qualified medical expenses.
- At age 65, you may start using funds from your HSA for any reason, with no tax penalty. Just be aware that if you use HSA funds for nonqualified expenses, you'll pay ordinary income tax on those amounts.

Determination of eligibility to contribute to your HSA is your responsibility and you are strongly encouraged to consult your tax advisor if you have any questions about your eligibility or any of the above information. You should also refer to IRS Publications 969 and 502 for a complete list of eligibility rules and details about limits and eligible expenses.

You can use an HSA to pay for your share of eligible qualified medical expenses as defined by the IRS. Refer to IRS publications 969 and 502 for a complete list of eligibility rules and details about limits and eligible expenses.

Please note: According to IRS rules governing HSAs, you may enroll in either an HSA or the Health Care Spending Account, but not both.

Wellbeing Rewards Program

IBM wants you to be the best you can be across all dimensions of health. To enhance your personal wellbeing and health management, we offer programs and experiential options to support resilience skills building, movement and physical activity, eating to fuel your mind and body, and more. You can access and benefit from the meQuilibrium on the US Benefits Hub, as well as Resources for Living, our Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and Ayco MoneySmart financial programs. Additionally, ongoing opportunities, including 1:1 EXOS Performance Coach and Nutrition consultations, Nutrition Tuesdays and Workout Wednesdays plus monthly well-being webinars will be available to support your ongoing needs.

Dental

Benefits Options

IBM offers two dental options, to meet a range of dental care needs. These include IBM Dental Basic and IBM Dental Plus.

Vision

IBM Vision Plan

This fully-insured option, administered by Anthem Blue View Vision, provides benefits for an annual eye exam, eyeglass frame and lenses or contact lenses. Benefits are available both in-and out-of-the Anthem Blue View Vision network. Additional discounts on extras and upgrades are available, in addition to these annual benefits.

EyeMed Discount

The EyeMed Discount, provided by EyeMed Vision Care®, is available to you and your eligible dependents at no cost. This discount gives you access to savings of up to 40% on frames, lenses, lens options and contact lenses, and a discount on an annual eye exam at EyeMed Vision Care network provider locations.

Flexible Spending Accounts

Overview

IBM offers two flexible spending accounts, designed to help you pay for certain health care and dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars.

The Health Care Spending Account helps you save on eligible health care expenses not reimbursed by your health plans. You set aside a portion of your pay before taxes, then use that money to pay yourself back for health care expenses during the year. Participation is optional. If you decide to participate, you can contribute up to $2,750 annually.

The Dependent Care Spending Account helps you save on eligible day care for children or adults. You set aside a portion of your pay before taxes, then use that money to pay yourself back for eligible expenses. Participation is optional. If you decide to participate, you can contribute up to $5,000 annually per year.

You can choose the Health Care Spending Account or the Health Savings Account – but not both!

If you want to enroll in the Health Care Spending Account, you'll need to choose a medical option other than the IBM PPO with HSA or the IBM Enhanced PPO with HSA. Based on IRS regulations:

1. you may not enroll in both the Health Care Spending Account and the Health Savings Account at the same time, and
2. you should not enroll in an IBM plan option with an HSA if you have other medical coverage (e.g. through a parent, spouse, or Medicare). Additionally, because the administration of an HSA is a taxpayer responsibility, it is strongly encouraged that the account holder consults his or her tax advisor before establishing an HSA.

Saving for Retirement

401(k) Plus Plan

The 401(k) Plus Plan lets you defer up to 80% of your eligible compensation on a before-tax or Roth 401(k) basis. You can also save up to 10% of your eligible pay on an after-tax basis. Your contributions are subject to the IRS limits.

You are eligible to make employee contributions into your 401(k) Plus Plan, however, you are not eligible to receive IBM contributions (match or automatic contributions) and you are not eligible to enroll in the 401(k) Disability Protection Program.

Please note: employees hired into IBM US as a Supplemental 2 under IBM's Global IBMer Program, or any successor program, are not eligible to defer their own contributions or receive IBM contributions under the 401(k) Plan.

Employees Stock Purchase Plan

IBM's Employees Stock Purchase Plan (ESPP) offers eligible employees the opportunity to invest in IBM stock at a 15% discount off the market price on the date of purchase each pay period. Participation is voluntary. In general, employees may designate between 1% and 10% of pay, up to a maximum of U.S. $25,000 worth of shares in a calendar year.

A per-offering limit on total ESPP share purchases helps IBM manage the rate of share consumption and more closely align the ESPP with shareholder interests.

Supplemental employees are eligible to participate once they have worked at least 21 weeks in the calendar year of the offering and have worked 20 or more hours in at least 16 of these weeks. Typically, the offering periods are six months and start on January 1 and July 1 of each year.

An enrollment window will open in advance of each offering period which will provide eligible employees the opportunity to begin participating, change their current contribution rate, or continue participating at the same contribution rate. The enrollment window will generally open on the first of the month preceding the offering period and remain open for 2 to 3 weeks

Eligible employees may join the ESPP at any time during the offering period, as long as they are actively employed and on the IBM payroll on the first day of the offering period. Participants may also increase or decrease their ESPP contributions, change registrants, or withdraw from the ESPP at any time.

Other Benefits and Services

In addition to its competitive array of health care, savings, income protection, and time off benefits, IBM offers a range of other programs to support employee needs.

Employee Assistance Program

Your wellbeing is essential at IBM. Whether or not you enroll in any medical coverage under the IBM medical plan, the plan offers resources to support your behavioral and emotional wellbeing. Through IBM's Employee Assistance Program (EAP) -- Resources for Living -- you, your eligible dependents and all members of your household, can receive behavioral health support, as well as a variety of other services, including referrals for child and elder care, at no cost to you.

With Resources for Living (administered by Aetna), you can access up to 12 counseling session per incident or issue, for a range of topics such as:

- Elder and childcare services
- Relationship support
- Stress management
- Work/life balance
- Family issues
- Grief and loss
- Depression
- Anxiety
- Substance misuse
- Self esteem and personal development

Through Resources for Living, you can receive dedicated care from a licensed counselor through text, voice or video messages – anytime, anywhere. Resources for Living can help you find a counselor in your area and even make appointments for you.

Transitional Medical Program/COBRA

The Transitional Medical Program (TMP) provides for continuation of health care coverage to IBM employees and their dependents who lose coverage due to termination, divorce, death, leave of absence without benefits and certain other circumstances. This coverage is not subsidized by IBM. TMP satisfies the requirements of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, also known as COBRA.

Paid Time Off

Vacation

Supplemental 2 employees are eligible for up to 10 days of vacation per calendar year. The number of days of vacation is prorated based on the number of days worked during the calendar year. These days can be taken in weeks, days or half days. Vacation is paid at the same rate as your regular salary and it is subject to tax withholding. You will not receive cash payments over taking vacation from work. Vacation days must be used in the year they are earned. Vacation which is earned but not used is considered excess and will not be carried over to the following year's earned vacation (exceptions exist for those residing in the State of California).

You may take your vacation before you have earned it. However, vacation taken before it's earned is considered a salary advance. If you separate from IBM before you earn the vacation you have taken, IBM will seek reimbursement for the value of the unearned days.

Holidays

Supplemental 2 employees are eligible to receive paid time off for the IBM designated holidays. As a supplemental employee, you are not entitled to personal choice holidays.

Life Insurance

To support your income protection needs, IBM offers the opportunity to purchase employee-paid insurance under the IBM Group Life Insurance Plan from MetLife. This includes coverage options for you, as well as your dependents. There are two options available: Optional Term Life (OTL) and Accidental Death & Dismemberment (AD&D). You can choose to enroll in one or both. You may purchase this voluntary coverage through semi-monthly premium deductions from your paycheck on an after-tax basis.
