

Get connected with the Advantage Community from Watson Health

What new strategies can you use to overcome challenges at your hospital or health system? How are your peers handling similar challenges at their organizations? Where can you learn the latest news regarding current healthcare issues? How can you get even more from your Watson Health products?

The Advantage Community may provide the answer to these questions, and more.

This password-protected website is available exclusively for customers of IBM Watson Health. Here you can trade insights and best practices with your peers, access blogs and presentations from industry experts, and get answers to specific questions that might otherwise require hours of research.

Plus, you'll gain a better understanding of the broad capabilities of Watson Health products through an extensive knowledge base of case studies, white papers, frequently asked questions, and more.

Get Connected

For more information about the Advantage Community, or to receive a username and password, email advcomsu@us.ibm.com

Network with IBM Watson Health customers across the country

Share best practices to maximize your use of Watson Health products

Leverage a vast library of relevant content on a variety of topics

Get access to special presentations from Watson Health experts and industry thought leaders community.truvenhealth.com

Accessible 24/7

Available exclusively to Watson Health customers