

How can local governments keep up with public demand for data-driven services?

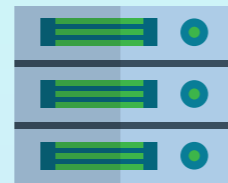

20k

5 municipalities in Norway depend on Fosen IKT to deliver digital services for >20,000 citizens

Fosen IKT aimed to launch new services without harming the performance of existing ones

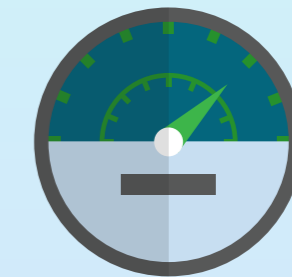

Enhanced its storage infrastructure with IBM® FlashSystem® 9100

50%

shorter application response times help Fosen IKT deliver high-quality digital experiences

29%

data compression cuts storage requirements even as data volumes grow

Shrinks power consumption, reducing costs and allowing greater investment in service development

