

Factor-y S.r.l. – Establishes a cost-effective, security-rich development environment with SoftLayer technology

Avoids up-front investments in infrastructure with a fully cloud-based development environment

Strengthens security with proven SoftLayer® capabilities offering multilayer protection

Supports expansion

by providing resources to create and deliver innovative offerings

Solution components

Services

- SoftLayer®

Business challenge: Web portal developer Factor-y S.r.l. needed to migrate its development infrastructure to an environment hosted by a reliable cloud services provider with highly responsive technical support.

Solution: Factor-y engaged IBM Cloud Services to provision SoftLayer virtual server infrastructure to host its development environment. With IBM® WebSphere® Portal and IBM Web Content Manager software running on the cloud platform, the company quickly and easily delivers customized websites and portals to its customer base.