Quality backed up by IBM certification

The IBM certification specifies that the product has been verified through our industry best of breed re-manufacturing processes.

IBM Certified Pre-owned servers and storage are re-manufactured to original IBM engineering specifications using an authentic Bill of Materials, and are always processed using only genuine IBM parts.

Additionally, the re-manufacturing process for each unit makes use of specific serial number history from IBM maintenance records.

Combined with a testing and quality inspection performed to current IBM manufacturing standards ensuring that each product meets engineering compliance, IBM Certified Pre-owned servers and storage products sold by IBM or IBM Business Partners are immediately eligible for IBM Maintenance from IBM Technical Support Services.
