

Is a cognitive workshop right for you?

You have been through all the documentation and have a good idea about Artificial Intelligence (AI), what it does and how to put it to work.

Is it time for a more in-depth discussion?

Let's have a chat and see.

What we propose:

A learning session covering the following:

- The different ways in which Deep Learning can be used in your industry;

- Analysis of areas of opportunity, gaps to be closed, and required effort;

- The IBM perspective on AI and Deep Learning technology;

- Industry-specific use cases;

- Assessment of current AI abilities;

- The business and IT initiatives suitable for AI;

- Opportunity identifications and next steps.

Workshop location: your company.

Workshop length: usually 6 hours (one day).

Who should attend: LOB people who will implement AI initiatives in their areas of responsibility.

Sounds interesting?
