

How can data science help cities develop and maintain more efficient buildings?

BlocPower uses IBM Data Science Experience to help cities identify inefficient buildings and plan cost-effective upgrades to reduce building maintenance costs and increase energy efficiency.

Internet of Things

sensors are used to monitor building conditions

Air quality

analysis in schools could help to improve public health

10% increase

in productivity for data scientists exploring building data

Accelerates

the development of statistical models

