The advantages of IT leasing and financing

Leasing and financing your IT through IBM is more flexible than an outright purchase because it:

- Reduces the impact of large purchases by spreading payments over the life of the product
- Helps you match cash flow outlays to budget limitations, so you can acquire the complete solution when you need it
- Offers flexible terms to meet budget requirements and challenges related to color of money limitations
- Let you apply remaining fiscal-year funds toward your acquisition and defer the balance into future fiscal years
- Improves asset management and let you implement an IT strategy based on technology lifecycles
- Minimizes your exposure to risk of technological obsolescence and environmental issues related to hardware disposal at end-of-life
