

How can universities use analytics to improve the campus experience?

Michigan State University uses IBM® Analytics to help improve residential and hospitality management, and make visiting its campus a memorable experience for students, staff and guests alike.

Reveals opportunities for improvement by analyzing how facilities are used

Democratizes access to analytics, enabling staff to make smarter decisions

Boosts service quality by enabling more targeted, effective use of resources