

How can governments ensure that welfare goes to the right claimants?

The Government of Odisha uses IBM Analytics to check whether citizens qualify for social assistance, detect fraudulent claims, and preserve welfare funding for people who are truly in need.

45 million records checked and matched automatically

60% reduction in cases that need to be investigated manually

500,000 ineligible claimants identified and removed from the welfare system