

Chart the right course to hybrid cloud modernization

Automate tasks, reduce complexity and lower risk with generative AI

Businesses of all kinds are embracing hybrid cloud to help them respond to market needs faster, unlocking agility and real value. Hybrid cloud helps organizations optimize processes while shrinking expenses and modernizing mission-critical applications—even while employees and customers continue to seamlessly interact with those applications. The advantages of hybrid cloud are clear, the path to getting there isn't.

What if your cloud journey came with a roadmap?

Imagine if you could chart your entire cloud journey before you even began. IBM Consulting® Advantage for Cloud Transformation is a generative AI-infused platform designed specifically to help businesses accelerate cloud adoption with consistent and predictable outcomes so they can navigate their modernization journey with confidence. Powered by the knowledge and expertise IBM Consulting has gained by leading numerous successful hybrid cloud migrations, the platform maps the most effective pathway based on your desired business outcome.

Our purpose-built platform can accelerate the discovery, design and development phases of your digital transformation. It assesses your application and infrastructure data and recommends the optimal modernization path, packaged as hybrid cloud journeys, that entails structured work breakdown, staffing plan and execution steps. In the development phase, it provides tools that automate specific modernization tasks to accelerate transformation and reduce effort, delivering targeted outcomes.

Making the complex simple—without the risk

IBM Consulting Advantage for Cloud Transformation automates numerous tasks, reducing complexity while increasing the speed and agility of your business. Automating tasks frees our experts to focus—along with you—on delivering desired business outcomes faster.
