

IBM Corporate Service Corps: Local sustainability—Global impact

IBM Corporate Service Corps is committed to developing environmental resilience for communities around the world. IBM Corporate Service Corps has helped:

“We would be months behind of where we are today, without the ability to think of a great strategy to improve and scale up our environmental management tools. We would still be operating from project to project.”

—Marcio Sztutman, Conservation Manager, Amazonia, The Nature Conservancy, Brazil

“By working with IBM, my work team has gained new approaches, new methods, new ways of going about our task; but above all, they've inspired us to set up continuous improvement processes in our work.”

—Gabriel Vazquez Sanchez, Director AIPROMADES, Mexico
