2018 University Day

University Day for Students and Faculty/Educators – October 25, 2018

IBM works with students, professors and businesses around the world to ensure that the next generation of experts will be ready to leverage the superior security, availability, scalability, and efficiency of IBM Systems.

The University Day at the IBM Systems TechU in Rome is an opportunity to bring together local and regional academic communities with IBM researchers and developers. The day's agenda consists of a main hall presentation combined with lecture and panel sessions with a focus on IBM Power Systems and Storage.
